Being a personal stylist for J.Hilburn means I offer a service unlike any other and deliver true value: luxury men's clothing that is a third to half the cost of retail. My service is a virtual full-service store that saves my clients both time and money. My goal is to always make my clients look and feel their best and have everything in their wardrobe work together. We excel at custom shirting and suiting, but we do much more than that. At J.Hilburn, we have 11 luxurious custom categories for Monday-through-Sunday dressing at a great value. Our styling and personalization options give each client a personal look and personal fit. No matter what your needs or style preferences, we can create the look that will be perfect for you. There is nothing we can't do.

I'm based in Washington, and I continue to serve clients anywhere in the greater Bellevue and Seattle area. I can meet you where you are, on your schedule, or you can come to my showroom in Bellevue. I also travel and help clients anywhere in the U.S., primarily places I frequent, including Los Angeles, Southern California, New York, and Sun Valley. In addition, as an executive partner, I have a network of personal stylists throughout the country to help clients wherever they are. This is a business of personal service and relationships, and I love to connect with people. So, I promise, guys, you'll be in good care. If you're looking for J.Hilburn clothing or to become a stylist yourself, please feel free to reach out!

An elevated experience tailored to how you want to shop! Our Bellevue showroom provides a dedicated space where you can work one-on-one with your personal stylist to build your custom wardrobe. Stop in and visit our Bellevue showroom:
